If Weyler is really anxious to invade us, he had better start while he has some ships left to come in.

If Cervantes were living now, he might give us another volume of Don Quixote and have no trouble in finding heroes and clowns.

Where is the Vizcaya? She hasn't been visible to Commodore Sampson's ships which have been hunting for her and her companions.

The Spaniards do not know how to shoot mines any better than they do guns. They exhausted their ability on the one that blew up the Maine.

The French editors are mad at Commodore Dewey because he scooped up that Spanish squadron with such little ceremony and knocked their predictions into pi.

The Queen Regent of Spain told a newspaper correspondent that she intends to write all she knows. If she will delay writing awhile she will know a good deal more than she does now.

White Ghost, a Brule chief, wants to raise 2,000 red men to fight the Spaniards in Cuba. Imagine the superstitious Spaniards facing so many reds with a white ghost in front of them.

About 1,400 sons of Mars want places on Gen. Fitzhugh Lee's staff, when there is room only for three. The 1,397 might join the ranks under Fitz and take their chances of getting on when the other three were knocked off.

A London paper says the war with Spain will make no difference in the supply of Havana tobacco and cigars in London. Not at all. Our American cigar makers and tobacco growers are equal to the situation and will will not let the London puffers suffer.

When Commodore Dewey whipped the Spaniards he took their wounded, established a hospital and cared for them, and fed them. When the Spaniards discover that this is the American way of ending a battle they will be shooting their fingers off to get into the American hospitals, and getting a square meal into them.

Some of the Spanish editors equal our newspaper artists who beat the cables. They publish dispatches from fights that take place in mid-ocean, before anybody else knows anything about it, regardless of whether the fight takes place or not. In such cases the Spanish ships always get the innings.

The people of Porto Rico pay in taxes to the Spanish crown more than $4,000,000 a year, five-sixths of which go to Spain and the other sixth is scattered around for something on the island. This is one of the things against which the Porto Ricans kick.

The Queen Regent of Spain is quoted as saying that she will devote all her energies to the interest of her son. Just so. And Spaniards are expected to shell out their money and spill their blood "in the interest of her son." And that's what a good many of them don't like.

That is a groundless scare in New York that Spanish hirelings may ruin the Croton aqueduct and cut off New York's supply of water. Their performances on the water so far have been so disastrous to them that they will do their attacking in some other way.

Inventor Maxim says he can build a ship that could flax the whole Spanish navy. He couldn't hardly do it in time now, but we might give him a job on building a few, so as to be well prepared in case any other nation get to fooling with us.

By the time this war is over, some of the Spanish statesmen will realize that this is a much larger country than they thought it was.

Pleaded a Mistake.

Yesterday Justice G. W. Bornemann committed Duke Kelly, colored, to jail to await the next term of the Criminal Court, when he will be tried for an assault upon Mrs. R. L. Sanford last Saturday evening. The complaint made against the negro was that he seized Mrs. Sanford and demanded money, but was frightened away by Mrs. Sanford's screams. Kelly made a statement to the court that he mistook Mrs. Sanford for some one whom he knew. He begged the mercy of the court, but Justice Bornemann deemed the offence of too serious a character for him to take final action. Hence his action in binding the prisoner over to the Criminal Court.

Street Car Track Repaired.

Last night a force of laborers were engaged in the work of repairing the street car track on Front street at the intersection with Princess. The track was spread and the rails badly worn. New rails were placed and other improvements made. The work was done under the direction of Mr. M. A. Jones, track master.

— Several members of the W. L. I. who volunteered with the company and went to Raleigh, returned yesterday evening: Messrs. Owen Wiggins, Rob Fowler and Ed. Moore failed to pass the medical examination. Mr. Charles Duffy returned on account of sickness.

— It is expected that Battery C, of the Sixth Artillery, annouced in yesterday's STAR as detailed for service at Fort Caswell, will arrive here on the 9.30 o'clock A. C. L. train this morning from Washington. If they do, it is presumed that they will proceed at once to Fort Caswell on the steamer Wilmington.

— The STAR announces with pleasure that Jno. J. Fowler, Esq., is expected home to-day from Johns Hopkins Hospital, where he has been the past two weeks under special treatment for an affection of the nose. He is very much improved and has the assurance of a speedy recovery.

— Injury to personal property was the predominating offence charged in Justice Bunting's Court yesterday. Tom LeBoo was bound over to Court yesterday for cutting John Anderson's coat and hat, and Walter Richardson was similarly dealt with for cutting Sam Albritton's coat. John Anderson was dismissed on a charge of assault and battery with deadly weapon upon Tom LeBoo. All colored.

A FISHING EXCURSION.

Mr. J. W. Sneeden's Big Catch at "The Rocks"—Members of the Party.

Mr. B. F. Keith's staunch naptha launch Lila Adeline carried quite a party of gentlemen down to "The Rocks" Tuesday on a fishing excursion. They started at 4 a. m., and returned at 9 p. m., and report quite a pleasant day's outing. To Mr. J. W. Sneeden, the efficient clerk in the office of John D. Bellamy, Esq., is conceeded the honor of having caught the largest fish. Just before starting on the return trip he hauled in a large 6 pound black trout, which he says supplied a meal for his own family and some of the neighbors as well.

The fishing party was composed of the following gentlemen: Messrs. T. W. Wood, A. E. and Ed. Yopp, William Morrison, R. H. Pickett, G. G. Watts, Vance Toomer, C. T. Simmons, H. A. Bagg, Jr., Hardie Schulken, J. W. H. Fuchs, Adolph Nelson, N. A. Bordeaux, J. W. Sneeden, B. F. Keith and the Messrs. Kinney.

Valuable Acquisition.

Prof. Michael Schenck, late of Oak Ridge Institute, has accepted a position under Mr. Ernest Williams, chief clerk in the office of Mr. T. M. Emerson, traffic manager, Atlantic Coast Line. Prof. Schenck is a son of Judge Schenck at Greensboro, and comes highly recommended as a young man of ability and sterling character. The STAR welcomes him to the city.

OUR NAVAL RESERVES

Wilmington Division, on the Nantucket, Took Their Departure for Port Royal.

THRONGS OF PEOPLE GATHER.

To See the Boys Off and Speed Them on Their Voyage—Towed by the Hercules the Monitor Passed Out to Sea Last Evening.

Yesterday morning at the wharves and river-side, from the Princess street dock all the way down to Kidder's mill, a distance of fourteen squares, there were gathered throngs of people to wave reluctant good-byes to the stout-hearted crew of Naval Reserves who were about to sail on the monitor Nantucket for Port Royal, S. C., and there to enter upon active service as coast defence during the war.

The announcement had been made that the Nantucket, escorted by the tug Hercules, would sail at 8 o'clock and people began to gather some time before that hour. However, some supplies which had to be gotten on board delayed her until past 10 o'clock. In the meantime people had continued to gather until the wharves and adjacent streets were crowded and many were even perched upon neighboring house-tops.

While this concourse of relatives and friends gazing were from afar upon the gallant Reserves on board the monitor, the boys were busy on deck moving hither and thither, making every needed preparation for the coming voyage, ever and anon responding calls or signals from friends or loved ones among the spectators ashore.

It was 10.15 o'clock when the order was given for the Nantucket to be loosed from her moorings at the government wharf, and her staunch little escort, the Hercules, government tug, strained at the massive hawser with which she was to tow the powerful iron-clad on her southward voyage.

This was a signal for an especial demonstration on the part of the spectators, as well as the ships, tugs and other sea and river craft in port. Cheer upon cheer went up from the people ashore, tugs and steamships opened wide their many-toned whistles, and salutes were freely fired. Flags were at half mast on all the ships in port, and as the monitor glided majestically down the river each craft saluted as she passed.

On board the monitor the Reserves, despite the fact that every moment they were gliding further away from home and loved ones and deeper into the uncertain fortunes of war, displayed only the most buoyant spirits. Salutes were acknowledged and their voices united in singing appropriate farewell songs.

The tugs Navassa and Marion accompanied the Nantucket several miles down the river and saw her well under way. Aboard them were many relatives of the Reserves and the tugs were profusely bedecked with the national colors.

Besides the regular crew there was aboard the Nantucket Lieutenant Geo. L. Morton, of the North Carolina Naval Reserves; Lieutenant W. H. Willard, U. S. N.; Superintenent of the Third District Signal Service, Col. Thomas McIlhenny, of this city, and Reserves Prempert and DeRosset, all of whom only accompanied her as far as Southport.

At Southport the Nantucket stopped only long enough to take on the seven additional men to complete her crew as prescribed by naval regulations.

Lieutenant Morton and party returned to the city yesterday evening. He told a STAR representative that the monitor and her escort steamed out of Southport on a heavy sea, caused by a stiff southeast wind. It was not sufficiently strong to be dangerous, but just enough to make thorough seasickness inevitable.

Readers of the STAR are familiar with the extensive overhauling the boat has received during the past several weeks. At Port Royal as, the STAR has frequently stated, the Nantucket will have her bottom scraped, mount several rapid-fire guns and then take her place as a coast defence boat. May victory perch upon her banner whenever she meets the enemy, and every member of her crew return safe and well to home and loved ones, even though battle-scarred, is the sincere prayer of the STAR.

The May Festival.

The May Festival is scoring an unexampled success wherever it goes. The party was in Macon, Ga., on Monday and Tuesday of this week, and captured the place. The prima donna, Mlle. Verlet, won great praise, and the Telegraph says she sings an octave higher than any other singer in the world, yet clear as crystal, and in perfect tone. It urges every one in Macon to hear the other concerts "for never before have we had anything to equal it, and we may never have again." "For our sister cities where the company will be heard we can promise a treat."

The first concert in Macon closed with the oratorio of Stabat Mater, a local chorus of fifty voices assisting. The same work will be sung here next Friday night, but without the chorus.

The Pic-Nic Excursion.

A pleasant outing is in store for those who patronize the pic-nic excursion by St. John's Sunday School, to Lake Waccamaw next Saturday (May 14th.) The train will leave the Atlantic Coast Line depot at 9.30 A. M., returning to the city at 7:30 P. M. The excursion will be under excellent management and chaperonage.

CIRCUIT FEDERAL COURT.

One Case Disposed of Yesterday—Work for the Term to be Completed To-day.

There was another short session of the United States Federal Court yesterday.

The case of Alexander McCullum, colored, vs. the British steamship Anaces, announced by the STAR as set for the day, was called and dismissed, subject to a notice of appeal by complainant's attorney. The motion was made by the respondent's attorney on the ground that the suit was improperly instituted, holding that it should have been instituted in personam instead of in rem. Judge Purnell intimated that the motion was well taken, whereupon plaintiff's counsel declined to proceed and an appeal was taken to the Circuit Court of Appeals. When this had been done, a recess was taken until 9.30 to-day.

The only case remaining to be tried during this term of the court is that of J. A. Brown vs. the Clyde Line Steamship Company, the pleadings in which are familiar to STAR readers. This will be called this morning and the work of the court for the term very probably will be completed in a very few hours. Judge Purnell will, however, remain in the city at least until to-morrow.

MAY BE AN ADJUTANT.

Additional Facts Regarding Mr. Bradley J. Wooten and His Army Appointments.

The STAR yesterday announced that Mr. Bradley J. Wooten, son of Rev. Edward Wooten, of this city, had been appointed drill master for the Second regiment It was learned yesterday that he also stands an excellent chance for an appointment as adjutant in a battalion of the same regiment. The appointment is to be made very soon. His duties as drill master will not last but a few weeks. Then he can enter at once into service as adjutant.

Mr. Wooten graduated at the A. and M. College, Raleigh, last June. For two years prior to his graduation he served as major of cadets. He has been recommended to the War Department at Washington as the best drilled student in the A. and M. College. He is a stalwart soldier, measuring six feet high and weighing 180 pounds.

AUDIT AND FINANCE.

A Special Meeting—The Tax Ordinance Approved—Collection of Back Taxes.

There was a special meeting of the City Board of Audit last night. Present Mr. H. C. McQueen, (chairman,) J. H. Webber, Mr. H. A. DeCover and Mr. C. W. Yates. The object of the meeting was to take action on certain matters pertaining to the collection of city taxes. The first business was the approval of the general tax ordinance for 1898-99. Its provisions have been referred to in sufficient detail in previous issues of the STAR.

The resolution recently adopted by the Aldermen making provision for the collection of back taxes for 1894, '95, '96 and '97, by the city attorney, was approved, subject to an amendment which prescribes that the city attorney's fee of 10 per cent. shall cover all expenses of every kind whatsoever to the city in the collection of these taxes. A clause was also added which requires the city attorney to give a bond for $5,000.

O. A. N. Club Improvements.

Work was commenced yesterday on a good cement walk leading from the St. James' parish house to the O. A. N. club house. This is in keeping with the club's record of constant improvement. The organization is in a most flourishing condition, proving both a financial and social success. The members concede to Mr. Thos. E. Myers much credit for the progress being made on the business end of the club. He is untiring in his efforts as a member of the Finance Committee to advance the interests of the club. Work will commence in a few days on extensive improvements at the club's athletic grounds, which are to be thoroughly levelled up. They hope very soon to open up base ball for the season and organize an Eastern league.

G. F. C. Commencement.

The commencement exercises of the Greensboro Female College will be on Wednesday and Thursday, May 25th and 26th. The annual sermon will be preached by Rev. W. S. Creasy, D. D., of Winston, and the address to alumnae will be delivered by Rev. E. A. Yates, D. D. Both these features will be on Wednesday. On Thursday morning the graduating exercises will be held, and Hon. W. W. Kitchin will deliver a literary address on that occasion. The annual concert will be given Thursday evening. The art exhibit will be in progress both Wednesday and Thursday. There are eight young ladies in the graduating class.

NEWS FROM RALEIGH.

Only Two Companies of the Second Regiment Ready to Be Mustered In.

ALL OFFICERS APPOINTED.

T. C. Davis, of the Wilmington Company, Appointed Sergeant Major—Six of the Boys Returned Home—Gov. Russell in Camp.

[Special Star Correspondence.]

RALEIGH, N. C., May 11.

The severity of the punishment for desertion put Camp Grimes to talking yesterday when it became known that two of the Goldsboro company had deserted. While nothing like death awaits the captives, they will, however, be punished.

Governor and Mrs. Russell dined at the camp last evening with the officers of the regiment.

The troops, with the exception of three or four companies, were green in military matters upon their arrival here one week ago. There is a marked improvement now in the movements of the men. The First regiment makes a very creditable appearance on dress parade. Though many of the men are not uniformed, they are generally stalwart fellows and will make good soldiers.

Fifty men for the colored company were examined here by Dr. Winter. He says the colored men are excellent physical specimens of manhood and should make good soldiers.

There was a large movement of troops here today. The Second Regiment is now complete with the exception of one company. This is the Lenior company, which will arrive Tuesday. Then there will be 2000 men in Camp Grimes. Col. Burgwyn and his adjutant, Lieutenant Gray, were at camp this morning getting the regiment in shape. The Second Regiment will be commanded by some of the State's best men. The personnel of the captains of the various companies and officers is exceptionally fine.

[Special Star Telegram.]

T. C. Davis, of Wilmington, has been appointed sergeant-major of the Second regiment by Col. Burgwyn. Davis is heartily commended by Col. Burgwyn.

Six of the Wilmington boys returned home two sick and four rejected.

Lt. Col. C. D. Cowles, of the First regiment, arrived to-day.

All officers of the Second regiment are appointed, but appointments will not be made public until to-morrow.

Recruiting officer Graham reported to the War Department to-night that companies of the Second regiment are coming here without the required number of men and many of them appeared to be unable to secure the needed number; that only two companies are ready to be mustered in. Five companies that came to-day are quartered in buildings at the Fair grounds.

Lawrence Carlton, Queen City Guards, Charlotte, was arrested to-day and taken to Durham to be tried for stealing two diamond rings. He enlisted under the assumed name of Gore. Carlton was a society-flyer in Durham.

The Governor refuses to commute the death sentence of William Smarr, of Cleveland county, convicted of burglary. The execution is set for July 20th.

Lieutenant White, of the Wilmington company, will be officer of the guard to-morrow.

H. E. Thompson, West End, N. C.:

DEAR SIR:—A month ago you sent me a box of the Jackson Springs Water—twelve bottles. You know how fearfully I was suffering with an acute bladder trouble some weeks before. When I reached home I found the water awaiting me. I have rested and drank that water. I am a new man—my old self practically; my appetite restored; and the tenderness in the bladder has disappeared. I think it is a wonderful water. I had been using for weeks before all sorts of lithia water, but the Jackson Springs Water went to the spot.

With profound gratitude, I am,

Yours, Respectfully, &c.,

CALVIN S. BLACKWELL.

The Doctor further says, it is "the best, I think, God has let run out of the earth for afflicted humanity."

This Water is unsurpassed for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Insomnia, Nervous Prostration, or any Kidney, Bladder or Stomach Trouble.

Packed for Shipping.

This valuable Water is packed for shipping purposes, one dozen half-gallon bottles to the case. It has permanently cured hundreds who have found it inconvenient to visit the Springs.

PARTISAN IDIOCY.

It is not to be expected that in time of war men should altogether forget that they are partisans, but there is no reason why any partisan should carry his partisanship to the verge of idiocy and charge every one who differs from him with being a traitor. A specimen of this kind of partisanship is seen in the following from the Chicago Tribune, as we find it quoted, with some appropriate comments, by the Washington Post:

"The real crisis of the war is approaching. Enemies more dangerous than the Spaniards are to be encountered. The Spaniards may capture some American merchantmen. They may make dashes at unprotected American seaports. They may fight desperately in Cuba and swell the list of casualties in the American army. But there are domestic enemies of the country—men within our own boundaries—who apparently mean to take advantage of this crisis if they can to destroy the credit of the United States, obliterate three-fifths of its capital, strip it of the sinews of war, and inflict injuries on the government more serious and more enduring than any which the Spaniards can accomplish."

Who are these awful fellows, more to be feared than the Spaniards, to whom this hysterical scribe alludes? They are the gentlemen in Congress who hold the opinion that funds enough can be provided to wage the war with Spain without piling up more bonded indebtedness. That's their offence and it is in that this wicked "treason" exists. It so happens that there are in Congress and outside of it a great many people who do not believe our bonded indebtedness should be made any larger than it is if that can be avoided, but they believe it can be avoided, at least for some time to come. They believe the seigniorage silver in the Treasury vaults should be coined which would give us something over $40,000,000, and they believe the Government could issue, say, $100,000,000 of non-interest bearing notes, as it did during the war between the States, and this sum ought to be ample, with what has already been appropriated, to meet the expenses of the war, unless it be protracted beyond the expectation of the majority of people. They believe an income tax measure might be passed which, if faithfully carried out, would yield another $100,000,000 of revenue, making a $240,000,000 war fund, omitting the revenue that may come in from the additions that have been made to the revenue bill, for war purposes. From these three sources an ample fund should be raised to wage a vigorous war until Spain got very sick of it.

But it doesn't follow because certain members of Congress prefer this way of raising money to issuing bonds that they propose to handicap the Government in the prosecution of the war, or that they are giving any grounds for these hysterical charges of treason in which this Chicago dotard virtually indulges. Those anti-bond Senators and Representatives will see that the Government will not, as far as they are concerned, lack for the funds to wage this war and wage it right. They have already shown this by the readiness and unanimity with which they have voted appropriations and supported the measures adopted for the vigorous prosecution of the war, and that they have quite as much patriotism and national pride as the Chicago editor who a short while ago was sitting in his sanctum and lashing the administration for its tardiness in spitting in Spain's face and beginning the row.

But the motive in this malignancy is apparent. It is simply an endeavor to place in a false light the representatives of millions of the American people, and thus make political capital out of a war from which true patriots are not seeking to make any political capital, and in connection with which they are not thinking of politics. The hero of that grand fight at Manila, is a Democrat, but Democrats have not been going around reminding Republicans of that, for they regard the glory of that victory as belonging to America and not to the Democratic party, because the man under whose generalship it was achieved is a Democrat. When the Democrats in Congress were voting millions to carry on the war, the fact that it is being carried on under a Republican administration had no influence on them, although they knew that the speedy and successful ending of the war would redound to the advantage of that administration and add very much to the popularity of the present incumbent of the Presidency. Party considerations are not going to prevent them from supporting this Republican administration in everything that is necessary to a vigorous and successful prosecution of the war. If it should be necessary to vote for bond issues, they will vote for bond issues, although they may do so reluctantly, as a matter of expediency and necessity, if there should be necessity. Democrats have done this before without endorsing the policy of bond issues.

But suppose this Chicago editor really thought he had grounds for his hysterical utterances, they are worse than mere folly. They do no harm where the animus that inspires them is understood; but they might do harm and much harm in other countries where the motive may not be understood. It is said that Spain's purpose is to avoid battle and thus prolong the war with the hope of securing intervention or involving some other nation, which would give her an ally. What better argument could the Spanish Government ask to go before their people and urge a continuance of the war than this from this Chicago paper? If they could be persuaded that the United States have within their own borders and in the national legislature enemies to encounter more formidable than the Spanish warships, wouldn't this give them hope and encourage them to buckle on the armor for a stubborn and prolonged contest? Of course it would, and thus this malicious, malignant, ranting Chicago partisan scribbler is, while he is accusing others of being the enemies of the country, playing the role of the enemy himself while posing as a patriot.

MINOR MENTION.

The United States Department of Agriculture reports a reduction of 6.6 per cent. in the cotton acreage this year compared with last year. These are only approximate figures, as they are based on estimates, and all they show is that there has been some reduction, not much, but better than none. A reduction of a little over a twentieth would not mean a very large reduction in the crop, with anything like fair seasons, certainly not enough to ensure a material advance in prices, especially as the probabilities are that a considerable portion of the present crop will remain on hand after the new crop is harvested. If this is the outlook as to the acreage for this year it isn't a very good one for the cotton planters, especially for those of them who have been pursuing the all-cotton plan, and will have to purchase food supplies. From the present outlook breadstuffs will in all probability be high for it is already reported by crop statisticians in Europe that there will be a shortage in the world's supply of wheat, and speculators will act on this, corner the American supply and keep prices up, so that the indications are that the Southern planter who has to buy will have to pay high prices for his foodstuffs out of low-priced cotton. Fortunate will be the planter who has reduced his cotton acreage and increased his food-crop acreage.

* * *

It now begins to look as if there was to be a movement in force on Cuba, although it doesn't seem to be definitely arranged as to the number of troops that will go at once, or as to the objective point. As the ground has been pretty well felt, however, there is little doubt that the available spot is in view where the landing can be effected without serious opposition. With the Spanish squadron out of the way, it has probably been decided that the best policy is to move directly upon Cuba, strike hard and hasten the conclusion on that island, which once captured would leave Spain nothing to fight for there. It is more than likely that it has been the intention of the Spanish Government from the start to give up Cuba, which may account for the strange movements of that Atlantic squadron and its seemingly aimless floating about the seas. If it ever had an objective point this side of Cape Verde the plan was changed after the blockade of Cuba was established, since when it has, under various pretexts, been simply awaiting orders. That fleet was paraded for home effect. Its removal simplifies the situation materially, and has doubtless hastened the programme for invasion. At all events it begins to look now as if things were coming to a focus.

* * *

Like the Klondike gold fields the cotton mills of New England have been lost sight of since the war with Spain has taken possession of the public eye, but the New England mill men haven't lost sight of their mills nor of the Southern mills, which they are watching closely. They are still debating the problem as to how to shape their course in view of the Southern competition, which will become the more formidable with the increase of Southern mills and the new lines of goods that will be added to the production of those mills. If the New England mills continue to manufacture as heretofore, and there be an increased production in the South, the competition must become closer and the New England mills must meet it with reduced prices which will lessen their margin of profits, which they say amounts to little or nothing now. Conseqently the talk is being revived, and is strongly favored by some of the leading manfacturers, of converting some of the mills into linen mills and abandoning, by these, the manufacture of cotton goods altogether, which would doubtless be a good idea if they can command a sufficient amount of the raw material.

BOOK NOTICES.

The Sanitarian, for May, presents a valuable list of contents. There is one article in it, "Tobacco Stunting," that every boy who uses tobacco ought to read. A. N. Bell, M. D., editor, 337 Clinton street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

The political reader will be much interested in the May number of The New Time, which discusses political and social matters very interestingly. Published by The New Time Company, 56, Fifth avenue, Chicago.

Gunton's Magazine for May is interesting. The leading article is entitled "A War for Peace," which is followed by another, on "England and America," a subject which is attracting a good deal of attention now. Published by the Gunton Publishing Company, Union Square, New York.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—— Spain is running through precisely the same riotous disorganization which brought the downfall of the monarchy thirty years ago, and the central authority seems as little able to resist revolution now as then.—Philadelphia Press, Rep.

—— The United States government has completed arrangements for borrowing the electric searchlight at Mount Lowe, Cal. It will be used at night to sweep the bay and the Golden Gate. This searchlight was at the time of its construction the largest in the world. It was used at the world's fair at Chicago.

—— The people of Porto Rico, do not, it is said, feel very kindly toward Spain and would therefore, welcome American domination of the island. There has been a great drought, lasting six months—consequently the people are feeling poor. Crops of all kinds have failed. Notwithstanding this condition of affairs, Spain has just ordered the people to tax themselves to feed a larger number of troops for six months.—Savannah News, Dem

—— It is patriotic and, perhaps, statesmanlike for Senor Castelar to announce that he will "save Spain as Thiers saved France," but he may have more trouble in doing it. Should he be called on to perform that task, he would have much the same kind of a populace to deal with, but he would have a different state of affairs outside the country. Thiers had the acquiescence, if not the assistance of the European Powers. Castelar may expect the open opposition of Austria and probably of France and Germany as well. Emperor William is said to have declared recently that there was no room for another republic in Europe, and France will not look with favor on a change of Government that is likely to invalidate her Spanish securities.—Phil. Ledger, Ind.

FINALLY HEART TROUBLE.

Restored to Health by Dr. Miles' Nervine.

MR. EDWARD HARDY, the jolly manager of Sheppard Co's. great store at Bracieville, Ill., writes: "I had never been sick a day in my life until in 1890. I got so bad with nervous prostration that I had to give up and commence to doctor. I tried our local physicians and one in Joliet, but none gave me any relief and I thought I was going to die. I became despondent and suffered untold agony. I could not eat, sleep nor rest, and it seemed as if I could not exist. At the end of six months I was reduced to but a shadow of myself, and at last my heart became affected and I was truly miserable. I took six or eight bottles of Dr. Miles' Nervine. It gave me relief from the start, and at last a cure, the greatest blessing of my life."

CURLING IN AMERICA.

A Scotch Game Zealously Cultivated by Scotchmen.

The game of curling has secured a firm place among the winter sports in all parts of the country where there is heavy ice and where there are Scotchmen to teach the game to their American neighbors. There are about 50 curling clubs in the United States, and the Grand National Curling club of America has a membership of many hundreds in all parts of the north and northwest, but still the game is spoken of as "Scotland's ain game."

The game is always played on ice covered lakes or rivers, except in England, where it is frequently played under glass roofs by men whose white waistcoats, straw hats, floral decorations and general lack of Scotch style cause the real curlers to regard them with scorn.

The curlers who are members of the New York clubs have their contests on Van Cortlandt lake, and there is probably no class of sportsmen who go about a game so seriously as they.

The object of the game is to plant the curling stone, which has a teakettle shape and weighs from 32 to 44 pounds, near the "tee," or center of a circle at a distance of 40 yards, and to guard it there.

Next to the stone the broom plays the most important part in the game of curling, because in the hands of a sweeper who is anxious to see the stone advance to the circle where it will count it is wielded dexterously, so that every particle of snow or ice may be removed from the stone's course. The "skips," or captains, of the opposing sides have charge of the sweeping departments, and the sweepers have the right to use their brooms after the stone has got beyond the line which marks the middle of the rink. The sweeping is always to a side or across the rink and not forward or backward, where the sweepings might obstruct the passage of a running stone.

Match games, called a bonspiel, are played by opposing teams of four each, and when it is at home curling is essentially democratic. It has been said that the lord of the manor, the clergyman and the village blacksmith may be seen on the same rink with the smith as "skip" shouting to the clergyman to "soop, soop!" when he thinks a "soop," or sweep, in front of the moving stone will help it along.

The enthusiastic curler sees and hears nothing but the speeding stones and the applause, the shouts of "Weel curled, mon!" and the boyish shouts which rise on the wintry air show that a youthful spirit may live in a mature body, particularly if it be that of a Scotch curler.—New York Tribune.

Many old soldiers now feel the effects of the hard service they endured during the war. Mr Geo. S. Anderson, of Rossville, York county, Penn., who saw the hardest kind of service at the front, is now frequently troubled with rheumatism. "I had a severe attack lately," he says, "and procured a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It did so much good that I would like to know what you would charge me for one dozen bottles." Mr. Anderson wanted it both for his own use and to supply it to his friends and neigbors, as every family should have a bottle of it in their home, not only for rheumatism, but lame back, sprains, swellings, cuts, bruises and burns, for which it is unequalled. AN ELOPING FAMILY.

COL. MANNING ESTABLISHED A PRECEDENT WHICH WAS FOLLOWED.

He Eloped, and His Descendants to the Fourth Generation Followed His Example—The Record Now Contains Eight Cases, and It May Have Additions.

"I read in The Sun not long ago," said a Steuben county man, "an item from a western paper mentioning with some show of boastfulness a family in the town where the paper is published that has a record of six elopements to its credit thus far, with two daughters left who may increase the score. That record is fair, but is behind that of a family that I know about. It may be that this family, which began eloping in Steuben county a good many years ago and has been keeping it up in other counties and states ever since, has been longer in the race than the western eloping family brought forward with so much brag, but that doesn't rule it out.

"This family is the Manning family. There have been eight elopements in it, and I wouldn't be surprised if I should hear when I get back home that the record has been put up to nine, for I had it straight from headquarters only a week ago that things were shaping that way. George Manning started the record of the family in the eloping line. He was an early settler up in old Steuben and worked for General Wheeler, one of the big guns of the pioneer days. Manning fell in love with the general's daughter, and she reciprocated. When her aristocratic father found it out, he discharged the presumptuous hired man. The hired man owned a good horse, and it was not until a good many hours after Manning had quit the general's service that the general found that Manning had ridden his horse rapidly toward the west with the daughter of the house of Wheeler riding on the horse behind him. General Wheeler chased the elopers through the wilderness all the way to Olean Point, learning on the way that they had paused long enough at Genesee settlement to be married. At Olean Point the general gave up the chase, for the eloping pair had gone on down the Alleghany river in a canoe.

"Manning settled with his bride in the wilderness of Warren county, Pa., and took up large tracts of fine land. He became a colonel in the war of 1812, and after the war grew immensely rich from his pine lumber. He had daughters. He also had among his many workmen a humble sawyer named Curtin, who fell in love with the oldest daughter, Ella. She returned the love of the young woodsman. Curtin had the courage to ask Colonel Manning for his daughter, and his request was emphatically refused. Then he eloped with the girl. This was in 1819.

"Three years later another daughter eloped with and married a young doctor, whose practice was barely sufficient to pay for his own living. When he died, however, only four or five years ago, he was worth half a million. He was Dr. Ambrose W. Sullivan, famous in the Alleghany valley. One of his daughters, Alice Manning Sullivan, accepted the suit of a young man who was objectionable to her father. The latter forbade her to marry him. She followed her stern parent's youthful example and promptly eloped with her lover. Thinking to profit by experience, when his second daughter became engaged to a young man who was not her father's choice, Dr. Sullivan consented to the match. This must have been a disappointment to the daughter, for she broke off the match herself, and a year later eloped with and married the brother of her former lover without giving her father a chance to say whether he would accept the young man as a son-in-law or not.

"Colonel Manning also had a son. His name was Jason. At the age of 20 Jason fell in love with Betty Grace, the pretty daughter of one of his father's teamsters. The colonel was furious when he learned of this attachment and thought he would break it off by sending the boy away to Philadelphia to school. The boy went without a protest, much to his father's surprise. The father wasn't so much surprised, though, when he learned two days later that the pretty Betty had joined Jason on the way. Colonel Manning swore he would disinherit the boy; but, learning that the couple, just as he had done years and years before, had been married on the way, he sent after them, overhauled them at Harrisburg and brought them back. When Colonel Manning died, Jason succeeded to the management of his large business. A son and a daughter were born to Jason Manning and his backwoods wife.

"In 1868 the son was 23 and wanted to marry Stella McCrea, who was 17. Malcolm McCrea, the girl's father, and Jason Manning were bitter enemies, the result of business difficulties, and both parents opposed the match. Jason's son, who was named George for his grandfather, Colonel Manning, having the precedent of both parent and grandparent before him, simply settled all dispute in the matter by running away with Stella McCrea and marrying her. The very next year his sister Belle defied parental objection to her choice of a husband, George McCormick, and eloped with him. He has since made something of a mark as a lawyer and politician in western Pennsylvania. George Manning, who eloped with Stella McCrea, and son of Jason, who eloped with Betty Grace, recently had his own precedent followed by his 20-year-old daughter, Stella McCrea Manning, who eloped with George Burns, aged 21. The only objection to this match that the girl's parents had was that young Burns was a cousin of her mother. Burns' sister, by the way, eloped with Seth Small of Pittsburg only a year ago, but I don't count her in this record of the Manning family no more than I do the Fry Manning and Doc Manning families, distant relatives of old Colonel Manning, both of which have an elopement to their credit."—New York Sun.

Tit For Tat.

A victim of omnibus pickpockets determined to get even with them, so he put into his pocket a pocket-book containing only a slip of paper on which were written the words:

"This time, you rascal, you've lost the reward of your labor!"

He got into the same omnibus and waited, resolved to have the first pickpocket that meddled with him arrested. Twenty minutes passed and nothing happened, and, tired of waiting, he got out, having assured himself that his pocketbook was safe. He opened it, and in place of his white piece of paper was a blue one, which he unfolded and read as follows:

"What a sly joker you are!"—London Tit Bits.

Tit For Tat.

A victim of omnibus pickpockets determined to get even with them, so he put into his pocket a pocket-book containing only a slip of paper on which were written the words:

"This time, you rascal, you've lost the reward of your labor!"

He got into the same omnibus and waited, resolved to have the first pickpocket that meddled with him arrested. Twenty minutes passed and nothing happened, and, tired of waiting, he got out, having assured himself that his pocketbook was safe. He opened it, and in place of his white piece of paper was a blue one, which he unfolded and read as follows:

"What a sly joker you are!"—London Tit Bits.

No sovereign of the United Kingdom was ever crowned in Ireland, but double coronations of English monarchs have not been infrequent. Henry II was crowned at Westminster and again at Worcester, Henry III at Gloucester and Westminster and Henry VI at Paris and Westminster.

Rose water is excellent as a bath to refresh tired or inflamed eyes, as it cools the lids and encourages the growth of the lashes.

Discovered by a Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and that too, by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery, by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose, that she slept all night; and with two bottles, has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hamrick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottles free at R. R. BELLAMY'S Drug Store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed. †

When Spectacles Were New.

In the days when spectacles were introduced the world was not all wise. Glasses became so fashionable that people did not wait until necessity compelled them to adopt the new custom. Whether their eyesight was bad or good, those who would be stylish wore spectacles. In Spain they formed part of the costume of every well dressed person.

The object of the wearer in putting on glasses was to increase the gravity of his appearance and render himself more directly imposing. A young monk who had, through the assistance of his family, caused his order to succeed in an important lawsuit, felt himself liberally rewarded when the prior, having embraced him warmly, testified his gratitude by saying, "Brother, put on spectacles."

The glasses of spectacles were proportioned in size not to the eyes, but to the rank of the wearer, those worn by the Spanish nobles being as large as one's hand. The Marquis of Astorga, viceroy of Naples, after having had his bust sculptured in marble, particularly enjoined the artist not to forget his beautiful spectacles.—Youth's Companion.

Ancient Egyptian doctors knew the groin and the perineum and had a name for each, which M. V. Lore of Lyons has discovered in medical papyri. The terms occur in the celebrated Ebers papyrus, but the meaning had not been proved.

Paris and Marseilles are connected by telegraph lines entirely under ground. They are placed in iron pipes and buried 4 feet beneath the surface, with manholes 3,000 feet apart. It cost $7,000,000 to bury the wires.

A MODEST GENIUS.

Her Own Husband Didn't Know She Had Gained Fame.

The "Land o' the Leal" was not written by Bobby Burns, as is popularly supposed, but by a woman who wrote many songs as popular as his and perhaps as much sung today, yet whose name is little known and whose literary history is very strange.

In 1766 a baby girl was born in an old house in Perthshire, Scotland, to Lawrence Oliphant, a Jacobite gentleman, whose whole family had impoverished themselves in the Stuart cause. His father had been "out" in the rebellion of 1715, and he himself had fought for Prince Charley in 1745. He had fled Scotland for his life, and only a couple of years before the birth of this his first child had he been allowed to return and settle down on the remnant of his estates. The baby was to have been named Charles, for the last Stuart, had it been a boy, but as it was a girl her father had to compromise by calling her Carolina. Mr. Oliphant was loyal to the lost cause to the last, and Carolina grew up amid love stories and songs of "bonny Prince Charley," songs that she was to supersede with her own. The nicest story you will ever hear about old King George III relates how he sent a message to Mr. Oliphant. When the laird was growing old and as stubborn a Jacobite as ever, the king one day said to the member of parliament for Perthshire, "When you go home give my compliments—not the compliments of the king of England, but those of the elector of Hanover—to Mr. Oliphant, and tell him how much I respect him for the steadiness of his principles."

Carolina was a great singer and dancer in her youth, but she had become a sober, middle aged woman before her wedding day dawned. She was betrothed in her teens to a distant cousin, who, like the rest of them, had spent all for the king over the water, and was for long years too poor to marry. At last, when the lady was in her fortieth year and he nine years older, she was wedded to her first love, Major Nairne.

In 1824 Major Nairne was restored to a title that had been obtained in 1715 and became Baron Nairne. Lady Nairne was left a widow ere long, and soon her only child, a son, died, too, and she spent the rest of her life in Edinburgh absorbed in religion and charity, respected as a saint, looked upon with interest because of the romantic political history of her family and the sweet Scotch constancy of her love story, but no one suspecting that she had any claims as an author. Sir Walter Scott had known her well, but had never dreamed of her secret; it was better kept than the authorship of "Waverley." Yet for 50 years, no less, young and old on every side had been singing her own songs all around her. The husband died without knowing she had written a line of poetry, and she all but carried the knowledge of her authorship to her own grave. But one sister had been her confidante, and when Lady Nairne had passed away the sister thought there was no longer any need of protecting her old fashioned womanly modesty and told the story and published a collection of the songs. Besides the "Land o' the Leal," some of the others were "Who'll Be King but Charley," "The Laird o' Cockpen," "Wha'll Buy My Caller Herrin" and "A Hundred Pipers and A' and A'."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

SAM DAVIS.

When the Lord calls up earth's heroes
To stand before his face,
Oh, many a name unknown to fame
Shall ring from that high place,
And out of a grave in the southland,
At the just God's call and beck,
Shall one man rise with fearless eyes
And a rope about his neck!

For men have swung from gallows
Whose souls were white as snow.
Not how they die nor where, but why,
Is what God's records show.
And on that mighty ledger
Is writ Sam Davis' name.
For honor's sake he would not make
A compromise with shame.

The great world lay before him,
For he was in his youth.
With love of life young hearts are rife,
But better he loved truth.
He fought for his convictions,
And when he stood at bay
He would not flinch or stir one inch
From honor's narrow way.

They offered life and freedom
If he would speak the word.
In silent pride he gazed aside
As one who had not heard.
They argued, pleaded, threatened—
It was but wasted breath.
"Let come what must, I keep my trust,"
He said and laughed at death.

He would not sell his manhood
To purchase priceless hope.
Where kings drag down a name and crown
He dignified a rope.
Ah, grave, where was your triumph?
Ah, death, where was your sting?
He showed you how a man could bow
To doom and stay a king.

And God, who loves the loyal
Because they are like him,
I doubt not yet that soul shall set
Among his cherubim!
O southland, fling your laurels,
And add your wreath, O north!
Let glory claim the hero's name,
And tell the world his worth!
—Ella Wheeler Wilcox in Confederate Veteran.

JAY GOULD AND PADEREWSKI

Their Characters as Shown In the Lines of Their Hands.

Just as "a woman's heart is mirrored in her eyes" so the life of a man is reflected on his palms. At least, this is the view taken by Miss Rosa Bauhan, in The Humanitarian, and we are indebted to her for a graphic description of the palms of the great American millionaire, Jay Gould, and of Paderewski, the Polish pianist.

The hand of Jay Gould, the American capitalist, is that of a man of great business capacity, for the finger of Mercury is long and spatulated, which always indicates inordinate love of money, and the third finger—which is quite as long as the second and has also a spatulate tip—gives spirit of adventure and passion for speculation. All great gamblers have this sort of third finger. The fate line—with so many upward branches rising from it in all directions—is indicative of a career of extraordinary success as far as money is concerned. The only check in the career of any importance is shown by a downward line at some years past 30. The life line, breaking short at about 57 or 58, marks the age at which he died. Widowerhood is shown by the bar to one of the affection lines at the percussion of the hand, and the deep sorrow line from the heart crossing the fate line at about 52 gives the date of this occurrence. The chained form of the life line, at its close, shows a lengthened period of illness before the death. Mercury is the ruling planet, but the sun has almost equal power, giving success, riches and energy. Mars is third in power, giving strong will, courage and combativeness of character, all of which he had in a great degree. The line from the Mount of Venus at about 19, barring an upward love line, shows some disappointment and worry through a woman at that age.

The hand of Paderewski, the great pianist, shows energy by the spatulated finger tips, though this may, in some degree, be due to the practice of his art. There is no materialism in this hand. All is intellectuality and nervous excitability. The line of head is apart from the line of life, as it generally is with all of the artistic temperament, and it droops in excess toward the Mount of the Moon, showing overvivid imagination. The heart line is full and strong and the branches at its termination show devotion in affection. The line of fate terminates under the sun finger, indicating that art dominates the existence, and the one deep line it forms on the Mount of the Sun shows riches and distinction through art. The downward line on the fate line shows some deep attachment at about 27. The planets which rule this existence are Venus, Saturn and the moon. Venus gives love of melody, the moon of harmony and Saturn in the hand of a musician would indicate instrumental rather than vocal music as the talent most likely to be exercised in life.

By Way of Illustration.

"Mr. Trimmer," said the artless girl, "what is a labial salutation?"

"Wh-why," stammered Mr. Trimmer, "I—I—that is, I might per-perhaps illustrate it, b-but I d'don't think"—

"Why not, Mr. Trimmer? Here are pencil and paper—please show me."

Mr. Trimmer trembled with agitation. He was a decidedly bashful young man.

"I am such a poor hand at illustrating," he murmured.

"Please, Mr. Trimmer."

"Well," he gasped, "if you will promise to shut your eyes while I'm doing the d-drawing, I'll t-try."

The pretty girl closed her eyes, the wicked Trimmer leaned triumphantly forward, there was a long drawn chee-chee-cheep, and all was over.

"Why, Mr. Trimmer," said the pretty girl as her eyes flew open, "is that what it is?"

"Yes, yes," cried the frightened youth. "It is, indeed. I'll get the Webster and show you."

"Never mind about the Webster," said the lovely girl. "Trimmer is good enough for me."

And then their mutual understanding was complete.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

THE FOODS WE EAT.

Various Kinds and What They Are Severally Good For.

Nature supplies us with two complete foods, milk and eggs, which contain in the proper proportions all the necessary elements for the sustenance of our bodies. As these are the only complete foods it is necessary in the absence to have mixed foods, and it is in the mixing that mistakes occur, because the fat forming, muscle forming and other parts are taken in wrong proportions, some in excess and others the reverse. Left to his own taste primitive man invariably selects the best food. This instinct, however, is defective at the present day. For children food rich in bone forming substances is necessary. Among muscle forming foods the following are the best and most common: Oatmeal porridge, with rich milk and whole meal bread buttered; meat is a highly condensed food of this class. To men of sedentary occupation a free use of meat is injurious. For men engaged at hard manual labor a generous meat diet is admirable.

Vegetables contain but little nourishment, but are useful as blood purifiers and also supply bulk to the food, which is necessary to give the consumer satisfaction. Milk should never be taken with meat, because they are both rich in one substance. Tea should not be taken with meat either, because it renders the meat tough and indigestible. Beef ranks first as a muscle former and mutton next. Pork makes a very digestible dish, and fowl and bacon are a very useful and palatable dish. Cereals enter largely into our diet and are of much value, because they supply food or starch as well as muscle food. Potatoes provide little nutriment, but with plenty of milk, which supplies the precise ingredients they lack, a good diet is formed.

Sugar is well worthy of notice, and the child's love of it is a perfectly healthy instinct and should always be gratified in reason. Fruits are good blood purifiers and should be considered as essentials rather than luxuries. Beef tea contains scarcely any nutriment whatever and is almost purely a stimulant. A dog fed on beef tea starved to death, while another fed on refuse meat throve. Tea, injurious if taken in excess, provides, if taken in moderation, a most refreshing drink. Many scientists recommend its use about two hours before our principal meal and without food. Coffee is a stimulant, unlike all others, in fact, that it is followed by no reaction. It stimulates the brain and is called an intellectual drink. Cocoa deserves to be classed as a food.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

The Morning Star.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 12

THE WAR REVENUE BILL.

Provisions of the Measure as It Will be Reported by Committee To-day to the Senate.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—With the exception of a few administrative features, the war revenue bill is ready for report to the Senate. This report probably will be made to-morrow though consideration of the measure will not begin before Monday. With the assistance of Senator Jones, of Nevada, the Democrats had control of the Finance committee and adopted their amendment which inculdes a corporation tax of one-quarter of one per cent., a provision for the coinage of the seignorage and the issuance of $150,000,000 greenbacks. The bond provision is eliminated.

Building and loan associations were exempted from the operations of the bill, but the House provision dealing with this matter was changed and the language of the exemption in the Wilson-Gorman act practically substituted for it. There was some discussion of the beer tax, but it was decided to leave the matter as it passed the House, with an increase of the rebate from 5 to 7½ per cent. The provisions in regard to the taxation of bankers and brokers, bills of lading, inheritances, "futures," proprietary medicinal articles, etc., were left as previously fixed. The House provision for a tax on mineral water was stricken out entirely.

The committee decided to increase the tax on manufactured tobacco from 12 cents, the House rate, to 16 cents per pound, and to exempt the stock on hand from the operations of the act. The committee also decided to recommend a reduction of the tax on cigars from $4.00 to $3.50 per thousand, and on cigarettes from $2.00 to $1.50 per thousand.

There was some general discussion in committee of the amount of revenue the bill would produce. The estimate of the Democratic members placed the amount at $150,000,000 from the revenue portion. The coinage of the seignorage would increase the amount to the extent of $42,000,000 and the greenbacks would make the total $342,000,000, or $42,000,000 in excess of Secretary Gage's estimate of extra revenue to meet the first year's expenses of the war.

WANTS THE PHILIPPINES.

Germany Preparing to Signify Her Disapproval of a Lasting Occupation by the United States.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

LONDON, May 11.—A story is published here to the effect that Germanyis preparing to signify her disapproval of a lasting occupation of the Philippines islands by the United States. The German consul at Manila is said to have been instructed to make representations to Rear Admiral Dewey differing materially in character from those of the representations of other powers.

Very heavy claims, it is said, are being encouraged upon the part of Germans who have suffered from the bombardment of Cavite; and Germany, it is further asserted, proposes to obtain control of the Philippine islands, guaranteeing the payment of Spain's indemnity. It is believed this plan is acceptable to Emperor Francis Joseph, of Austria, and it is understood to have been passively accepted by France, which country is so strongly interested financially, in the rehabilitation of Spain.

LONDON, May 11.—The Madrid correspondent of a Berlin paper says it is asserted in high Spanish official circles that on May 3rd the German ambassador to Great Britain informed Lord Salisbury that in case of a change in the form of government in the Philippines, Germany would be "compelled to put herself in possession of certain guarantees with the view of maintaining German interests." He pointed out to Lord Salisbury that Germany had to take into account the possibility that Great Britain in order to protect British subjects in the Philippines might be compelled to land an adequate force at Manila, in which case Germany would do likewise.

Lord Salisbury replied that he recognized the justice of this declaration, but designated the supposition that England has such intentions as incorrect, and according to the correspondent in question, proposed to leave the matter open until the conflict over Manila had been decided.

REAR ADMIRAL DEWEY.

The President's Nomination Confirmed by the Senate.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The President to-day nominated Commodore Dewey to be a Rear Admiral in the Navy. The appointment was made under the provisions of section 1508, of the Revised Statutes, he having, upon the recommendation of the President, received the thanks of Congress by name, by joint resolution, approved May 10, 1898. The Senate confirmed the nomination.

Dr. J. S Bivings, who last March killed T. J. Trimmier, committed suicide in his cell at the jail in Spartanburg, S. C., yesterday morning. Bivings' trial ended Tuesday night, when he was convicted of murder with a recommendation to mercy, which meant life imprisonment.

MOVEMENT FOR CUBAN INVASION.

A Concerted Effort All Along the Line to Begin Aggressive Operations.

SPAIN'S CAPE VERDE FLEET.

The Navy Department Has Strong Doubts as to the Report That It Has Returned to Cadiz—Is Without Advices from Sampson.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The army movement on Cuba is now fairly launched and to-day's news developed a concerted effort all along the line to begin aggressive operations on a big scale for the ejectment of the Spanish troops and government from the Pearl of the Antilles. An order given this afternoon by the War Department for the purchase of 5,000,000 rations is an earnest of the scale on which preparations are making for the invasion of Spain's territory. Of this vast quantity one-fourth is to go to the Philippines, by way of San Francisco, and the balance to Cuba.

For some reason that was not discoverable, there appeared to be

A Temporary Check

In the practical working out of the plans of the War Department for this Cuban movement. After everything had been made ready for his departure last night, General Miles was detained and some time to-day the rather gloomy prospect of an indefinite postponment of the first military expedition was presented. Later on, however, the obstacle, whatever it was, was removed, and it was again announced that the commanding general with a numerous staff would leave Washington to-morrow, direct for Tampa. The department has made a great many changes in the original programme laid down for the concentration, and as indicated in these dispatches yesterday many bodies of volunteers that were originally slated for one of the great concentration camps have found themselves suddenly under orders to proceed direct to Southern points, so that soon volunteers from the East and middle West will be moving swiftly to Florida and the Gulf, while from the far West the cars will be carrying troops to San Francisco. To-day's news in connection with the renewal of General Miles order to Tampa, is pretty substantial evidence of a very early movement of troops in strong force to Cuba, while the Philippine programme has been definitely fixed for some days.

The Cape Verde Fleet.

Contrary to expectations the day passed at the Navy Department without news from Admiral Sampson. Notwithstanding what appears to be confirmatory newspaper advices relative to the presence of the Spanish Cape Verde fleet at Cadiz, the Navy Department officials are beginning to entertain strong doubt of the accuracy of the report. It was not possible during the course of the day to obtain anything like an official confirmation of the official report received yester day, but this is not to be wondered at in view of the success with which the Spanish government has so far met, in keeping secret the movements of its naval ships. Until news come from Admiral Sampson of his doings in and around Porto Rico, it cannot be said definitely what programme shall be decided on as regards that island.

Admiral Sampson.

It has been suggested that some of the troops now being hurried to the Gulf coast may be intended to co operate with Admiral Sampson in the reduction of the fortifications at San Juan de Porto Rico and the subsequent occupation of the island. It is felt that the admiral will be in a rather disagreeable plight, supposing even that he managed to reduce the forts with his fleet, if he were obliged to remain there in occupation of the place, for lack of troops, when he might otherwise be urgently needed either on the Cuban coast or somewhere in the Atlantic to meet the Spanish fleet.

An evidence of the wisdom of having the troops' transports near at hand in such cases is shown by the predicament Admiral Dewey is believed to be in at Manila, where, for lack of troops, he is unable to occupy the town and to prevent atrocities, which the insurgents are capable of working upon their helpless Spanish foes.

The revival of doubts as to the whereabouts of the Cape Verde squadron caused a renewal of anxiety as to the Oregon, The ship was at Bahia at last accounts and is believed to have started a day or two ago up the Brazilian coast to join Sampson's squadron in the West Indies. She will have to make a run of 3,000 miles, which will occupy the Oregon about ten days only, as she is in fine fettle and averaged thirteen knots an hour on the long run around from San Francisco. However, it is believed that Admiral Sampson is as well posted as any one in Washington as to the conditions existing in the West Indies and he doubtless will do whatever is necessary in his judgment to safeguard the ship in her run up the coast.

The Navy Department.

During the past month the bureau of construction and repair of the Navy Department spent one million and a quarter dollars in the repair and outfitting of ships, and none of this money went to new construction. This is said to be largest expendititure in this particular line made by the equipment bureau, even during the days of the civil war. The Navy Department felt obliged to decline the offer made by some wealthy New York gentlemen headed by O. H. P. Belmont to build and equip a torpedo boat for the use of the government during the war. Possibly the declination was brought about through the condition attached to the offer that the boat should be commanded by Mr. Belmont, for without the least reflection upon that gentleman the naval officials have been obliged to decline to establish the precedent of appointing civillans to command in this way.

The practice in some respects would approach privateering, which is distinctly prohibited by the agreement we have voluntarily entered into and proclaimed to the world.

Lieutenant Colonel Roosevelt today turned over the duties of Assistant Secretary of the Navy to Charles H. Allen, of Massachusetts, and the latter held a reception at the department to all the employes. The rush orders to the Charleston, which went out to-day, will have the result, possibly, of obliging the department to send another vessel, probably the Philadelphia, along with the troop transports which are expected to go out from San Francisco about the end of the week, since it is very unusual in time of war to send such troops without a warship for convoy.

The United States dynamite cruiser Vesuvius passed the mouth of the St. Johns river, Fla., bound south, at 4.30 P. M. yesterday.

THE ELECTION OF SENATORS.

Resolution Providing for Amendment to the Constitution Adopted by the House.

RAILWAY ARBITRATION BILL.

Discussed in the Senate—Resolution for Securing Coaling Stations Adopted. House Refused to Concur in Postoffice Appropriations.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—For more than three hours this afternoon the Senate discussed what is known as the Railway Arbitration bill—a measure designed to adjust, by means of voluntary arbitration, differences that may arise between railroad officials and their employes. Mr. Kyle, Republican, of South Dakota, in charge of the bill, offered a number of amendments which were agreed to.

One of the amendments provides that nothing in the bill should prevent an employer from reducing the number of employes if the exigencies of business required such reduction.

To meet points raised by Senator Allen and Senator Turner, Senator Hoar offered an amendment, providing that no injunction or other legal process shall be issued which will compel the performance by any laborer against his will of contract for personal labor or service. The amendment was accepted by Senator Kyle. The bill was not finished to-day.

Senator Chandler, of New Hampshire, offered the following resolution which was adopted:

That the committee on Naval Affairs be directed to make inquiry concerning the expedience of securing and establishing for the United States additional coaling stations at suitable points in foreign waters; and as to each coaling station which may be deemed necessary, to ascertain what should be the dimensions, the conditions and expenses of occup ancy and maintenance, and the best method of securing the right to maintain such station, and report by bill or otherwise.

At 5.35 P. M. the Senate went into executive session, and at 5.45 P. M. adjourned.

House of Representatives.

After refusing to-day to consider the Senate bill restricting immigration, the House took up and discussed the House resolution to submit to the States a proposition to amend the constitution so as to provide for the election of Senators by a direct vote. The amendment proposed in the resolution, as reported to the House, left it to the discretion of the States to elect their Senators by direct vote or through their legislatures, but an amendment by Mr. Underwood, Alabama, making selection by popular vote mandatory was adopted, and the resolution was then passed.

Mr. Hill, of Connecticut, insisted that a two-thirds vote of the entire membership of the House was necessary for the passage of the bill. Mr. Grow, Lacey and Bailey opposed this view and cited precedents to show that the two-thirds vote of the House contemplated by the constitution was a two-thirds of a quorum since "the House" meant a body capable of doing business, and that involved no more than a quorum.

The Speaker's ruling sustained the contention.

Earlier in the day Mr. Loud called up the Postoffice Appropriation bill as passed yesterday by the Senate and upon his motion the House refused to concur in the Senate amendments and asked a conference. Messrs. Loud, Smith, Illinois, and Swanson, Virginia, were named as conferees for the House.

The House set apart May 21st for eulogies upon the late Senator James Z. George of Mississippi, and at 5.08 P. M. adjourned.

ARRIVED AT KEY WEST.

The Ambulance Ship Solace, With Surgeons, Nurses and Every Appliance for the Wounded.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

KEY WEST, FLA., May 11.—The ambulance ship Solace having on board four surgeons, eight nurses, the finest surgical appliances and accommodations for one hundred wounded, has arrived here from Hampton Roads. The Solace was approved this morning, under hurry orders, and Commander Dunlap has already reported to the commodore that he is ready to move as soon as an emergency arises.

During the trip to this port the Solace encountered a hurricane which lasted forty hours. She weathered it beautifully and crossed the bar here after midnight last night. She has on board many delicacies for the sick.

It is said here that if the report that the Spanish fleet has returned to Spain proves to be correct, an active movement against Cuba may occur within forty-eight hours. It is possible that Rear Admiral Sampson at Porto Rico and Commodore Remey here may strike simultaneously.

Naval officers here believe the Cuban defences at any point, except Havana, could be reduced by the ships now here and on the Cuban station in half an hour.

THE TOBACCO TRUST.

Annual Meeting—Directors Chosen—Financial Statement.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, May 11.—The American Tobacco Company at its annual meeting at Newark, N. J., to-day, elected the following directors for two years: Oliver H. Payne, Thomas F. Jeffress, Herbert L. Terrell; for one year, Josiah H. Browne, James G. Butler, John Doerhofer, William H. Butler.

W. W. Fuller presided. The treasurer reported net earnings to be $4,179,460. Quarterly dividends on preferred stock 2 per cent., $969,360. Six per cent. interest on scrip issue, May 1st, 1896, $214,800. Applied to surplus, $2,995,300. Deduct $1,432,000 for interest on common stock leaving present surplus $7,447,849.

ITALY'S REVOLUTION.

Rioting Continues—Eighty Persons Killed and Thirty Wounded at Luvino.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

ROME, May 11.—Martial law has been proclaimed in the province of Como.

There was rioting yesterday at Novara, in Piedmont. A mob there stoned the troops who fired upon the rioters, wounding five of them. An officer and some soldiers were injured.

LUVINO, ITALY, May 11.—In the rioting here yesterday eighty persons were killed and thirty wounded.

AMMUNITION FOR DEWEY'S FLEET.

Cruiser Charleston Ordered to Start at Once from San Francisco for Manila.

WILL TAKE A FEW TROOPS.

The City of Pekin and Other Ships with Supplies and Reinforcements Will Soon Follow the Charleston. A Two Weeks Trip.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The Navy Department has decided to have the cruiser Charleston start at once on its relief mission to Admiral Dewey's fleet at Manila. The orders issued anticipate the departure of the Charleston from San Francisco today, if it is possible to get the ammunition and stores aboard, and she will leave without waiting to convoy the City of Pekin and other ships loaded with supplies. The orders to the commandant of the navy yard at Mare Island are to put on board the Charleston all the ammunition she will carry so long as her steaming capacity is not retarded. It is the understanding here that at least 150 tons of ammunition can be put on board. By extraordinary efforts on the part of the authorities here, all the powder, shot and shell requisite for this relief expedition have been assembled at San Francisco.

Owing to the hurried departure of the Charleston it is not expected that she will wait for any considerable number of troops, as these will follow later on the other relief ships. She has a crew of about 300 men and this probably will be augmented by a marine guard of a few hundred. The Charleston is a protected cruiser of 3,730 tons displacement, built of steel and mounts eight guns in her main battery. She has twin screws and an indicated horse-power of 6666. The authorities here hardly expect her to make more than thirteen knots with her heavy stock of coal, ammunition and supplies. Her coal bunkers are rather low, so that she will probably have to stop at Honolulu to recoal. Her trip to Manila will take about two weeks. The City of Pekin, which will follow her, is a very fleet merchantmrn, capable of being pushed to eighteen knots or more, so that even with the handicap she has of starting several days after the Charleston there is a prospect she may overhaul her in the race across the Pacific and reach Manila first. This will depend, however, on how soon the City of Pekin can be made ready for a start. Saturday is the earliest date mentioned.

VALEJO, CAL., May 11.—Orders have been received from Washington for the cruiser Charleston to proceed immediately to Manila without waiting for the transport fleet. No actual date was set for the sailing of the Charleston, but she will probably leave for the Philippines either to-morrow or Friday.

M. E. CHURCH SOUTH.

General Conference—Memorial as to Worldly Amusements—Report of Committees.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

BALTIMORE, May 11.—Much of to-day's session of the conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, was again taken up in discussing the proposition to appoint a new editor of the Epworth Era, instead of confiding that task to the Secretary of the Epworth League, as has heretofore been the custom. A compromise was finally effected by the adoption of a resolution providing that the Secretary of the League shall continue to act as editor of the Era and that he shall receive a salary of $2,500 per annum. He is also empowered to employ an assistant if he finds himself unable to fill both positions.

The report of the committee appointed to revise the articles of faith which was filed yesterday, was adopted. There are numerous changes in the articles of faith, but they are confined to the correction of typographical and other clerical errors that crept in since their adoption in 1808.

The Rev. J. B. McChee, of Talbotton, Ga., introduced a memorial asking that the Advocate, the organ of the church, be made a daily instead of a weekly publication and that the sum of $75,000 be set aside out of the "war claim fund" of $288,000 for that purpose. He also asked that $50,000 of the fund be devoted to the founding of a mission at Shanghai, China, and a similar sum to the enlargement of the Epworth Era. The memorial was referred to the committee on publishing interests.

A memorial was introduced which promises to make things lively for churchmen who desire to attend theatres, dances, play cards, go to circuses or horse races or belong to clubs which serve liquor. The memorial was introduced by the Virginia delegates, and was simply read by title, "Worldly Amusements," by the secretary, and was referred to the Committee on Revisals.

The memorial is as follows: "Question—What shall be done to prevent the spread of worldliness among our churches, especially in its most open forms?

"Answer—(1). Let our preachers and members faithfully observe our general rules which forbid 'softness or needless self-indulgence and the taking of such diversions as cannot be taken in the name of the Lord Jesus.' (2.) When any of our members engage in dancing, card playing or horse racing, or attend upon theatres, circuses, dances, or join social clubs which furnish intoxicating liquors for the members, the pastor shall give private reproof to the offender; if there be any acknowledgment of the fault and promise of amendment, the person may be borne with; otherwise, the preacher must take with him two or three faithful friends, who shall labor to bring the offender to proper repentance; but if he will not hear them and there be no sign of amendment, the offender must be dealt with as in case of immorality."

The Committee on Temperance reported against the request of the Anti-Saloon League for the appointment of a director representing the Conference on the League Board, and also against naming delegates to the national convention, considering the appointment of delegates locally to be fully sufficient.

ANOTHER VESSEL LOST TO SPAIN.

The Torpedo-Boat Destructor Blown Up in the Straits of Gibraltar.

A FORMIDABLE EXPEDITION.

To be Dispatched by Spain to the Philippine Islands—Large Squadron at Cadiz Ready to Sail—Serious Riots in Spanish Towns.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

LONDON, May 11—A special dispatch from Madrid says it is officially declared that the government of Spain has no intention of allowing Rear Admiral Dewey to rest upon his laurels. About forty thousand men of the reserves of the Spanish army have been ordered to rejoin the colors, and it is added that a formidable expedition is being organized for dispatch to the Philippine islands.

LONDON, May 11.—A dispatch to the Globe from Gibraltar, says a British steamer which has just arrived there, reports officially, that she passed yesterday evening a Spanish torpedo-boat destroyer which was guarding Algeciras bay and straits. Shortly after the steamer passed her, all the lights of the destroyer were suddenly extinguished, a terrific explosion followed immediately and the destroyer disappeared.

The disaster, the dispatch adds, was apparently caused by the explosion of the boilers of the torpedo-boat destroyer. It is feared that all on board of her have perished.

LONDON, May 11.—The Spanish torpedo boat destroyer reported blown up near Gibraltar is probably the Destructor.

The Destructor is classed as a torpedo gunboat. She was built of steel at Clyde Bank in 1887, and was 192 feet, six inches long. She was of 458 tons displacement, had 25 feet beam and drew seven feet of water. The Destructor was driven by two propellers, had 3,800 horse power and was estimated to have a speed of about 22½ knots. Her armament consisted of one 3.5-inch gun, four 6-pounders quick-firers, and four Maxim guns. She had three torpedo tubes, carried over 100 tons of coal and had a crew of fifty-five men.

The Squadron at Cadiz.

LONDON, May 11.—The Globe publishes this afternoon a dispatch from Cadiz, dated Saturday last, which said the following ships, which were all ready for sea with the exception of the Pelayo, were at that port: The Pelayo, Vitoria, Carlos V., Almirante Oquendo, Vizcaya, Maria Teresa, Cristobal Colon, Alfonso XIII., Pluton, Proserpina, Osado, Audaz, Furor, Terror, and also several torpedo boats, transports and the Normania and Columbia, formerly of the Hamburg-American line, which have been renamed, Patriota and Rapido, respectively.

The Globe's correspondent added that he believed the squadron would sail on Wednesday (to-day) and that a number of troops would leave for the Canary islands on May 15th, while three battalions of marines were quartered at San Fernando ready for embarkation.

A Serious Riot.

MADRID, May 11.—Noon—A serious riot has taken place at Logrono, capital of the Spanish province of that name, on the Ebro, sixty miles from Burgos. The grain and provision stores were attacked and pillaged by rioters, who included numbers of women, armed with axes, choppers and cudgels. The cavalry charged the mob, but the soldiers were repulsed by a determined onslaught made upon them by the women.

LONDON, May 11.—A special dispatch from Madrid says a mob burned a huge grain warehouse there early this morning. The structure is reported to be a total loss.

LONDON, May 12.—The Madrid correspondent of the Daily Mail says: "Admiral Bermejo, Minister of Marine, denies that the Cape Verde squadron has returned to Cadiz. He affirms that 'this fleet at the present moment is where it ought to be, according to the instructions given it.'"

LONDON, May 12.—The Madrid correspondent of the Daily Chronicle says:

"In the Cortes a special war budget of 20,000,000 pounds was demanded with a tax on land and public securities. The sinking fund was suspended.

"A patriotic syndicate has just been formed in Madrid which will borrow a million pesetas to buy grain at Marseilles and Antwerp, as all the provinces but one have refused to send more grain to Madrid.

FIRE IN PHILADELPHIA.

Three Lives Lost and Property Valued at $255,000 Destroyed.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

PHILADELPHIA, May 11.—Three persons were burned to death and property amounting to $255,000 destroyed in the fire which originated to-day in the six-story building occupied by McCadden Brothers, wholesale dealers in toys and fireworks, 619 Market street. The dead are: William McCadden, a member of the firm; Charles Richardson, a packer; Miss Elelyn G. Caldwell, stenographer and typewriter.

The building was completely gutted, but the adjoining property was saved by the good work of the firemen, although the stocks were considerably damaged. The loss is covered by insurance.

ADVICES FROM MANILA.

The Insurgent Chief Sustains the Orders of Commodore Dewey.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, May 11.—A copyrighted dispatch to the Evening World, dated at Hong Hong, says: The Philippine rebel chief, General Aguinaldo, has issued a proclamation to the insurgents at Manila to obey the orders of Commodore Dewey and United States Consul Williams.

Killing still goes on in the outlying districts, where the natives are revenging themselves on the priests and local Spanish officials in spite of the proclamation of Aguinaldo.

A Key West special says information has reached that place of the landing within fifty miles of Havana of the expedition under command of Captain Dorst, Fourth cavalry, which left Tampa Tuesday on the transport Gussie.

PREPARATIONS AT PORT TAMPA.

Another Expedition With Arms, Ammunition and Supplies for the Insurgents.

PLANS FOR THE CAMPAIGN.

Transports Loading—Troops Arriving. Activity at Chickamauga—General Wheeler Reported for Duty. Cavalry En Route.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

TAMPA, FLA., May 11.—There is good reason to believe that inside of twenty-four hours another expedition with the same purpose and destination as that of the Gussie, which left here yesterday loaded with arms, ammunition and supplies for the Cuban insurgents, will slip from Port Tampa. The Florida, one of the Plant Line boats chartered by the government for use as a transport, has taken on a large cargo of Springfield rifles and ammunition, and the stalls for horses and mules have been completed. The boat is lying at the dock with full steam up, and no one is allowed on board. General Wade went out to the Port to-day and held a long conference with Superintendent Fitzgerald, of the Plant Line of steamers, and it is believed that orders were given to have the boat ready for sailing at a moment's notice.

Lieutenant J. D. Miley, of General Shafter's staff, who was sent to Washington Saturday with the reports of Captain Dorst and Lieutenant Colonel Lawton and the plans for the Cuban campaign, returned to-day bearing with him a big bundle of maps and documents and immediately reported to General Shafter. It is now believed that the two Cuban regiments will accompany the regular troops to Cuba. They have all been armed with Springfield rifles and under almost incessant drilling are rapidly being pounded into shape.

Everything possible is being done to facilitate the work of loading the transports at Port Tampa with ammunition and supplies for the expedition. Hundreds of men are kept busy unloading the war material from the freight cars and carefully stowing it away in the steamers. This part of the work will be practically concluded by to-morrow night, and the ships now in the slip will drop anchor in the bay to make room for other transports. The Orizaba is expected up from quarantine to-morrow. This is one of the largest transports engaged by the government, and will be used for carrying infantry. A number of Hotchkiss quick-firing and Gatlin guns were loaded on the Florida to-day.

The pay train arrived to-day and all the men in the camp received their monthly compensation except the Sixth cavalry, which had left before the paymaster's car arrived. The car will follow them to Key West. The amount paid out was in the neighborhood of $100,000. There has been no material change in the order as to the assembling of volunteers at Camp Thomas. Gen. Brooke to-day received notice that there would be from forty thousand to fifty thousand volunteers concentrated here and he was instructed to prepare for that many men.

General Joseph Wheeler arrived today and reported to General Brooke for duty. It is stated to-night that General Wilson will report Saturday. There seems to be some question as to whether General Lee is coming to this point, no orders to that effect having been received at General Brooke's headquarters.

GEN. WESLEY MERRITT.

Governor General of the Philippines—Will Lead The Infantry Invasion.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11.—The Bulletin says:

The President has appointed General Wesley Merritt of the regular army to the command of the volunteers from the Pacific coast.

General Merritt will rank as Brigadier General and will lead the invasion of the infantry upon the Philippines. He has been proclaimed Governor General of the Philippines and as soon as possible will establish his position as such at the capital at Manila.

C. F. & Y. V. R. R. CASE.

Further Litigation Likely to Ensue in the U. S. Court.

Baltimore Sun: Further litigation, it is said, will likely ensue in the case of the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Railroad. The decision rendered last week, in which the claim made by the Baltimore reorganization committee that the property should be sold as an entirety was upheld by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals was generally thought to have ended the litigation.

It is now stated that the New York committee, which wants the property sold by divisions, will endeavor to get the United States Supreme Court to take up the case on a further appeal. Information has been received in Baltimore that the New York committee has given such instructions to its counsel.

A Pirate In Bad Luck.

Mr. Frank R. Stockton, writing of "The Buccaneers of Our Coast" in St. Nicholas, says of the celebrated Bartholemy Portugues: In the way of well defined and conspicuous ups and downs few lives have surpassed that of Bartholemy. He had many adventures after the desperate affair in the bay of Campeachy, but they must all have turned out badly for him, and consequently very fortunately for divers and sundry Spanish vessels, and during the rest of his life he bore the reputation of an unfortunate pirate. He was one of those men whose success seemed to have depended entirely upon his own exertions. If there happened to be the least chance of his doing anything, he generally did it. Spanish cannon, well armed Spanish crews, manacles, imprisonment, the dangers of the ocean to a man who could not swim, bloodhounds, alligators, wild beasts, awful forests impenetrable to common men—all were bravely met and triumphed over by Bartholemy. Yet when it came to ordinary good fortune, such as any pirate might expect, Bartholemy the Portuguese found that he had no chance at all. But he was not a common pirate and was therefore obliged to be content with his uncommon career. He eventually settled in the island of Jamaica, but nobody knows what became of him.

True.

"It isn't true, is it," asked Rollo, as he finished reading "The Pied Piper of Hamelin"—"it isn't true that he could play on his pipe so that the rats would go off and down themselves?"

"Well," replied Rollo's father, "I don't know about that. I think it may be true. Your Uncle George can play the flute so that it will cause a cow into a river and drive all the dogs in the neighborhood crazy. Yes, I should say the poem is true."—London Fun.
